

The Attachment Research Community

Learning Hub Events

A look at case studies - what was happening? What we did? What was the result?

An opportunity to discuss various case studies of children past and present who have benefitted from the approach. Children whose behaviour had been a significant cause for concern and where the approach has made a significant difference. We will also look at cases where there has been a quick fix and other benefits that have been seen in the school. Colleagues may also bring their own examples for discussion about how a trauma informed approach could help and strategies could be employed.
